

Paul Elvere DELSART - System-world builder – Green Empire of the East and the West – EL4DEV

I am Paul Elvere DELSART, and I am a complete builder of a system-world or world-society. If I say this, it is because I have conceived, developed and structured a multidimensional, transnational and deeply transformative program that goes far beyond the traditional political, economic or technical frameworks. I am the initiator of the EL4DEV program, a global social engineering initiative designed as a participatory and evolutionary mechanism for civilizational change. This program, at the core of my approach, embodies an alternative systemic model that combines innovation, diplomacy, spirituality and science in the service of the co-creation of a fairer, more ethical and resilient new world order.

I am both the designer of a planetary governance model based on decentralized cooperation, the architect of a new diplomacy called societal diplomacy, which places peoples, small municipalities and intellectual exchanges at the heart of international relations, and the founder of a Think and Do Tank, LE PAPILLON SOURCE EL4DEV, which acts as a catalyst for a global dynamic. I have conceptualized unprecedented cooperation structures, such as national Societal Economic Interest Groups and international Politico-Societal Unions, enabling the emergence of new national and transcontinental intermunicipal alliances.

My approach goes beyond theory. It is embodied in concrete projects such as experimental educational tourist cities and agroclimatic vegetal complexes labeled LE PAPILLON SOURCE, true prototypes of a new world. These places, at once ecological infrastructures, training centers, tourist hubs and engines of social innovation, are partly designed to alter the very appearance of the Earth. Through the implementation of Vegetal Calderas, beneficial vertical geoengineering structures, I aim to transform our planet into a vast regenerated and resilient forest ecosystem, while reintroducing magic, beauty and prosperity into rural territories.

My vision transcends borders. It includes the construction of a new global social contract, collectively developed by the people through local experiments connected by systemic similarities. This contract arises from action, not imposition. It is structured from the cooperation dynamics created through infrastructures, events, collaborative platforms and participatory governance tools I have designed. I do not act outside nations, but in partnership with them, guiding them toward renewed sovereignty through collective intelligence and rediscovered spirituality.

My action is conceived on all scales, from the smallest village to the regional geopolitical union. I therefore propose a new globalization, not economic but societal, where the geo-intellectual and geo-spiritual density of territories replaces financial domination logics. The Mediterranean area is its cradle, intended to radiate toward Europe, Africa, Asia, the Americas and Oceania by mimetic effect.

As a system-world builder, I articulate systems thinking, transmedia storytelling, geoengineering, network science and social experimentation through a global project of civilizational scope. I make available to the people collaborative tools, an intelligent information system called the Big Smart Data EL4DEV, an ethical cryptocurrency (the GREEN COIN EL4DEV), physical and digital diplomatic infrastructures, and an immersive platform where fiction and reality merge to give life to a collective consciousness.

My construction is not that of an authoritarian empire, but of a Green Empire of the East and the West, societal, spiritual, enterprising and inclusive, in which every human being is called to play an active role.

I am a social engineer, a philosophical builder, a strategist of life and an artist of transformation. My work is that of a builder of worlds.
